THE INTERACTIVE FLOOR PROJECTION FOR EVERYONE

The interactive surprise effect makes you stay firmly on the ground

Which medium does not want this? To place a message within an intelligently designed environment!

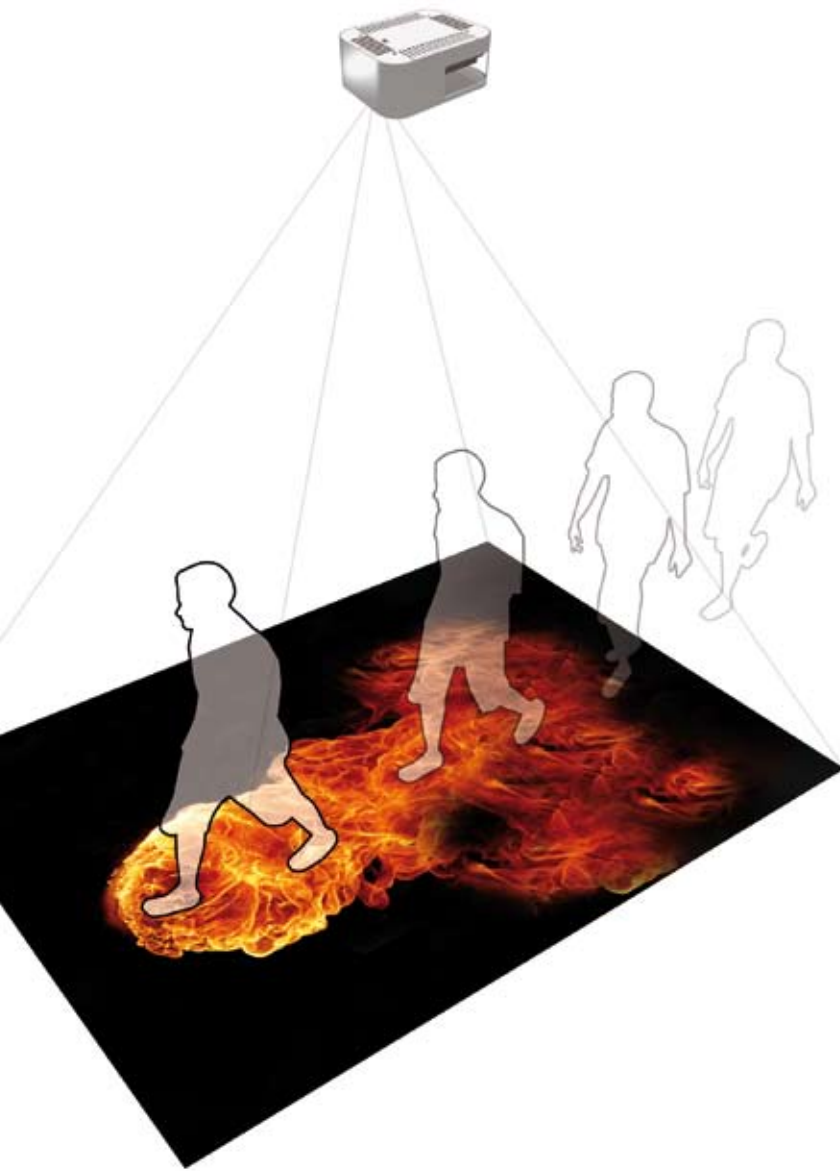

The FIRECUBE interactive floor projection system provides astonishment and concentration straight on the essential advertising message. If someone steps onto the projection area, the projected contents react interactively to his or her movement. Logos come and go, products fade in or movie clips start. Allow your ideas free rein and take care that your target group stays well grounded!

Flexibility ready for takeoff

FIRECUBE is the plug&play solution that allows you to realize your own interactive installations easily and within minutes.

FIRECUBE exists as a complete solution in a shapely designed high quality steel box with a 4,500 ANSI Lumen projector, a camera system and a PC. Also available as individual components, which are flexibly customizable to your requirements, along with a pre-installed PC and a camera system.

- Integration of your own contents via the Firecube editor software
- Permanently increasing number of impressive effects
- High quality hardware components within a stainless steel box
- Completely configurable via network (LAN, WLAN)
- License for perpetual use

EASILY CONFIGURABLE

In both versions the FIRECUBE editor and three full-featured effects are included. You can design your advertising messages interactively and control the system remotely via LAN or WLAN.
